SPRING MOVE

Nazis Planning To Invade Iceland

By DREW MIDDLETON

LONDON, March 3.—(AP)—The Germans have marked Iceland, Dakar, Casablanca and the Canary Islands for spring conquest to choke off North American supplies flowing to the embattled British Isles, an authoritative source said yesterday.

The heaviest blow would be aimed at Iceland, garrisoned by United States and British troops.

British is dangerous to Germany so long as an invasion army of the United States and British troops can be trained there, the source said.

"If Britain were cut off from the United States she could threaten Germany only by air, and Germany is not afraid of bombing."

his country, at 20 years young Canadians are today. It is good business on the part of the state to assure him that his parents will not lack food, clothing and shelter while he is away.

PHYSICAL ASSET
This social justice is a physical asset. It is a moral asset to the state in that it gives every young man something to live for and something to fight for.

How can a young man live life with maximum morale, courage and energy that he can march away to war in best fighting trim when he knows that out of 100 young Canadians starting life at the age of 25 in 40 years, 56 will be dead, one will be well-to-do, and four will live comfortably. Five will be gainfully employed and 34 will be entirely dependent upon relatives and a friend?

This is not good enough. It is not half good enough. The morale of this or any other nation is primarily dependent upon its sense of social justice.

This is true in peacetime. It is more than ever true in wartime. It is the basis of social justice leading to a sense of social security.

In Canada of today the greatest contribution a citizen can make to the winning of the war, it is presently the most essential war measure.

We urge upon our Dominion government an immediate attention to this crying necessity. The place to launch this program is Ottawa. The time to launch it is now.

During the evenings program the following took part in rendering musical selections: Mrs. D. Robertson, Miss Kelly, Mrs. Ward and George Satterfield.

Looking Over

JACK KELLY

If you have been following your sport religiously, you will remember that Max Berg, the erudite Princeton scholar, who was watching for the Boston Red Sox, recently was asked to do some special work. This work was to write a book on the ability to speak some seven or eight languages fluently.

One of his first jobs was a special broadcast to Japan, where a powerful short wave station in Washington, Mo., known at least to some Japs as a result of exhibition ball tours he dropped into the land of the rising sun, told what Japs were listening after they were being caught and garroled and that the U. S. would shortly give them such a going over as they never dreamed of—even after eating ice cream, pickles and cheese.

Now broadcast in Japanese, a tongue which he picked up with the aid of text-books and practice on Jap sailors while waiting from "Pico to Tokyo on a ball tour."

Bill Cunningham relates the following story to illustrate how thoroughly Berg learned Japanese in a matter of weeks.

"Max, lefty and Ted Lyons were sitting at the first day in Japan, saw much weary and dropped into whatever they use for lavatories in Tokyo. Lefty always figured himself quite a well with the ladies and his eye brightened as a case Japanese trick came up to inquire their pleasure. There'd been quite a wait, and Berg had been away from the table in the meantime.

The little old minked up with what looked like a menu in her hand and, curving prettily the legs, a speech that went, in a recognizable intonation of English, "I think Frank O'Dell is the tightest mink I have ever seen. His face would stop a clock. He is a lousy baseball player. Some day he will be hit on top of the head with a fly ball and killed."

"What's coming off here?" yelled Lefty.

The girls, or whatever, curried prettily and stood there demurely but blankly. It was obvious she didn't understand a word of it. Lefty bowed low, and grabbed the menu after reading from it. It carried a half-dozen rows of Japanese characters scratched on with a fountain pen—Bertha fountain pen. This was really a tricky trick. Here written a combination of Japanese phonetic which, when spoken, came out like English. And he'd paid the girl a few yen to trip up and read a lot of gibberish which, although in her language, made no sense in her language."

Thia And Thata Doin

There was quite a reunion in Boston Garden at Sunday's N.H.L. game when Hans Weinberger, former coach of the Austrian Olympic hockey team, met Jerry Brown, the Edmonton now with the Detroit Tigers. Jerry and Hans had been good friends when Jerry was playing hockey in Europe prior to the war. Hans slipped out of Austria by devious ways and considers himself mighty lucky.

Alfred Vandenberg, wealthy and sincere young tycoon, has suggested that he sacrifice some of his U. S. Treasury bonds for the benefit of the war. The track promoters in turn are suggesting that Vandenberg be freed instead.

Maybe it doesn't mean anything in particular, but 13 members of the New York Yankees are college men.

Al Schacht is all set for another season of baseball clowning. Al will warm up his act in the Grapefruit League. This season when he climbs into the grandstands after fooling around the diamond, he will sell defence pants and bonds instead of his customary peanuts.

Now Awaits C.A.H.A. Action

CALGARY, March 3.—(CP)—Canadian Amateur Hockey Association has been asked to settle the hockey dispute that occurred when Trail Smoke Eaters and Kimberley Dynamiters refused to contest the semi-finals of the A.B.C. senior hockey league.

D. P. McDonald, representative of the Alberta Amateur Hockey Association, said Monday night that the facts of the case have been submitted to W. G. Hardy of Kimberley, president of the C.A.H.A., with the request that the president make a final decision on the respective clubs.

There have been several counter proposals between the British Columbia and Alberta clubs concerned, all of which have been submitted to the C.A.H.A. and will turn them over to Frank Sargent of Port Arthur, vice-president of the C.A.H.A., who has the final decision to arrive at a decision satisfactory to the respective clubs.

Trail, who according to league arrangements were to have opposed Kimberley in a best-of-three series, refused to accept of a fifty-fifty split of the prize money offered by Lloyd Turner, manager of the Calgary arena, to have the game played in Trail. This, however, was flatly refused by Harry Walsby, business manager of the Stampede arena, who said:

"We fought all year to finish on top of the league standing, which was the first time in its history, and we intend that it will be played here."

Management of the Lethbridge Maple Leafs made a substantial offer to have the game played at the gate receipts to Kimberley but the offer was refused.

REJECT RED DEER It was suggested Calgary forget all about Trail and Kimberley and have Red Deer Buffaloes oppose Lethbridge in a home and home game. The offer was turned down by Stampede in the final but officials of the Calgary club would not listen to it. The claim that the Buffaloes did not qualify for the semi-finals and therefore have no right to contest them.

Mr. McDonald said the two Kimberley clubs lost a lot of money on the season's operations, and that the loss of the game would be a severe blow to the club.

Hounds Square Junior Playoffs REGINA, March 3.—(CP)—Noise Dene Hounds of Wilton, Moose Night led up their five game series with the Regina All Stars, two games apiece by trailing Regina 4-1.

The deciding game will be played Friday night at Regina.

BULLETIN

Believe It Or Not—By Robt Ripley

QUEBEC, March 3.—(CP)—The ranks of the undefeated in the Macdonald's Brier tankard thinned out to three rink Monday night as Manitoba, New Brunswick and Ontario won their second round matches to keep their rosters spotless for the first day in the Canadian curling championship.

New Brunswick, represented by Dan Connolly's Balmout four, scored almost at will to triumph 17-7 over British Columbia; Manitoba's Ken Watson of Winnipeg took off with a 10-0 victory over Northern Ontario; and Ontario, its bid for the title carried by Gordon Campbell's Hamilton four, edged out Nova Scotia 14-13.

While New Brunswick, Manitoba and Ontario survived the first two rounds without mishap, two rinks which had won their first round matches slipped into the beaten ranks.

One was Alberta, with John Slavik of Viking carrying the colors of the province that won the title last year. Slavik's rink was beaten 11-6 in the second round by John Franklin's Saskatchewan four from Rosetown. The other first round winners who slipped into the second round was Bill Mitchell's Sudbury rink from Northern Ontario.

INLANDERS BREAK EVEN Gaining an even break on the day's play, along with Northern Ontario and Alberta, was Prince Edward Island. After losing in the first round the Charlottetown team skipped by W. R. Cruikshank won 12-9 over Quebec's representative—Hastings four skipped by J. A. Ross, Jr.

The first two rounds found Quebec, British Columbia and Nova Scotia without victories.

The British Columbia team skipped by D. A. Campbell of Vancouver proved no match for New Brunswick after the opening end Campbell's rink scored one in the first frame. But New Brunswick came back with five on the second end and continued to roll far into the third.

TORONTO TOO TOUGH Northern Ontario put up a stiff fight against Manitoba for the first time but the latter failed to break even. But Manitoba won 10-9 in points through the sixth to 10th ends without a reply from Bill Mitchell's men.

The most thrilling battle of the second round was provided by Nova Scotia, represented by John I.

COLLEMAN, March 3.—(CP)—Medicine Hat defeated Canadiana 4-3 here last night and tied up the southern Alberta intermediate hockey finals in the first game at Medicine Hat Coleman won 4-3.

In the game, played here on heavy ice, the teams failed to break even in the first 40 minutes, the first period ending 2-2 while the visitors counted two to one by the locals in the second. It was a narrow squeak as Coleman as Murdoch scored the tying goal of the series with only ten seconds of regulation time left to play.

AMERICAN LEAGUE To Open April 14 CHICAGO, March 3.—(AP)—The American League Monday made public its 1942 schedule with 33 doubleheaders and 17 night games on the season's baseball menu.

The night-time section of the schedule gave Washington 10 games at home, with eight others to be played under the lights in enemy parks: Chicago, St. Louis, Cleveland and Philadelphia each have 14 night games at home and nine on the road.

There will be night games played at home by New York, Detroit and Boston, but each will make 11 appearances under the lamp while on the road.

Pioneer Alberta Missionary,
Father Doucet Passes At 95 Oldest member of the religious order of the Oblates of the Immaculate in Alberta, Rev.
Father Leon Doucet, O.M.I., of
St. Albert, died at a city hospital Monday. He was 95 years of age.
He had been a resident of the city for many years. He was a member of the St. Albert parish and was well known in the city.

In 1870 he was present at the founding of the first mission, Notre Dame de la Paix, at Fort Calgary, and worked from 1880 until just a few years ago among the Blackfoot, Sisseton, and other Indian tribes throughout Alberta.

Born in France, near the city of Orleans, on Jan. 27, 1847, he studied at the seminary in that district.
He was ordained a priest in 1870 and took his vows the following year. In April 1868 he left France to accompany the late Bishop Gratien to St. Albert, arriving there in September.

In 1870 he did much work in surpassing a decade, epidemic
among the Indians in that district, and six years later was present at the funeral of the late Father Lacours, who had been a member of the Oblate mission in Manitoba.
He returned to the Oblate home in St. Albert, where he remained until his death.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later by Connelly and Mc-Kenzie.

the regular meeting of the Edmon-

In the hundredth meeting of this Committee To Study Second

Blackout Test
Mayor John W. Fry announced Tuesday that he was of the opinion that a further blackout test should be made in the city in the near future, and is calling a meeting of the Edmonton Air Raid Precautions committee early next week to discuss the question.

He said that if the committee decides to hold a further test it should be of longer duration than the last one. Mayor Fry stressed that decision to hold the blackout test entirely with members of the committee.

He went to the Oblate home in Mani-who had been a member of the

He returned to the Oblate home

Refunding Of Alberta Debt Under Review

during the last five years of the U.F.A. administration. Further, he forgot completely that we are in a war with cannons of modern wars and armaments in nearly every large centre of the province there would naturally be a large consumption of liquor."

Military training centres, he said, had requested wet canteens in order that they might have some control over the drinking of the men. In 1937 there were 14 licensed canteens, in 1941 there 31 and at present there are 50.

The government, he said, adopted a policy in the fall of 1939 that there would be no further extension of liquor distribution facilities for the duration of the war. The only divergence from this plan, he said, was the license at Lake Louise for tourist traffic.

LIQUOR CONTROL
The liquor control board, he said, undertakes rigid discipline of licensees, with continual inspection of dispensing equipment. Abuse of privileges of individual permits means cancellation.

"It is the opinion of this government," he said, "that every encouragement should be given and every assistance afforded to districts desiring to ban the sale of liquor in those districts through setting up local option areas."

"The board does not encourage the sale of liquor," he said, "but strives for a measure of control, and a measure of profit which in itself is a measure of control."

Referring to criticism of the Alberta treasury branches, Mr. Low said that statements had been made that the money spent on them should be made available for the war effort. J. W. Warner, who said, had translated the treasury branch budget in terms of the bombers it would buy.

HAILEY STATEMENT

In reply to this, he quoted a statement by Hon. J. L. Hailey, federal finance minister, on similar statements regarding the number of corvettes and bombers that could be bought with the $1,500,000 cost of the planned plebiscite of the Dominion government.

Mr. Hailey's statement was: "They translate the cost of the plebiscite into terms of bombers and corvettes it would buy, as if the limitation of our supply of these military articles were the amount of money we can spend, whereas it is really the plant capacity and skilled labor available for their production, some of which would be diverted by taking a plebiscite."

"Perhaps he has caught the vision," Mr. Low commented. J. C. Mahaffy, Ind., Calgary, rose and asked Mr. Low whether, in view of Mr. Hailey's statement, which he had "read with approval," he believed that production of tanks and corvettes would be increased by monetary reform?

"I believe that a type of monetary reform, which would fairly easily be initiated, would ultimately increase production," Mr. Low replied.

TREASURY BRANCHES

If Canadian plant capacity in war industries reached the point at which all the employees of the treasury branches, most of whom are girls, would be required for the factories, he would ask the government to close the branches.

"Are the treasury branches a form of relief?" J. J. Bowlen, Lib., Calgary, asked.

Mr. Low replied that they were not, but the people in the branches should be employed there until they were needed for work which would be more vital in war.

Objective of the treasury branches, he said, were (1) the industrialization of the province to the point where a natural economic balance between industry and agriculture was established; (2) to provide healthy competition among lending institutions to stabilize interest rates at fair levels; (3) to provide machinery to stimulate the sale and use of Alberta-made goods and (4) to increase the purchasing power of the consumers of the province during times of business recession.

INSURANCE MONEY

Cost of the branches, he said, would not be correctly measured in terms of the appropriation provided in the budget each year. Deductions should be made for earnings of the branches, which go into general revenue, the aggregate of indirect savings to the people through gradual lowering of interest rates and the full monetary value of the services rendered to the province as a whole through partial or complete realization of the objectives set out.

Mr. Low stated that insurance companies had taken money out of Alberta in the last four years which should have been invested in this province and would have built homes if invested in loans under the National Housing Act.

The excess of net premium incomes of the life and fire insurance companies over total net losses paid in 1940 was $3,078,872. This, he said, would have built 600 homes worth $5000 each.

HOUSING LOANS

The average for 1940 is about the average for the past four years on Alberta business," he said, "hence there could have been provided for Albertans, with their own money, no less than 2,400 homes worth $5,000 each from this one source alone. What has actually been done? Not one single home has been built in Alberta under the federal housing act."

The minister reviewed the attempt of the government to obtain loans in Alberta for housing. He read a letter he had written to the director of housing, stating that the Alberta government had offered to exempt all loans made under the Housing Act from provisions of the Debt Adjustment Act. They had even guaranteed housing loans exemption from any debt adjustment laws that might be passed in the future.

The province also had offered to enter into a tri-partite agreement with the federal government and the lending institutions to give every security for housing loans. The mortgage companies and associations he said, had demanded repeal of all debt adjustment laws to their condition for making housing loans here.

Actions of the lending companies, he said, were in the nature of reprisals against the government.

Mr. Low suggested that the legislature pass a law providing that a fair percentage of the premium income of all insurance companies derived from Alberta business be invested in the province, in such projects as housing.

Insurance companies, he said, were diverting more and more of their funds to Dominion bonds. That meant that all the people, the taxpayers, paid the interest which went in profits to insurance policyholders, also to pay salaries and dividends to executives and directors.

Mr. Low said he felt the amendment to the budget, proposed by Alfred Ikegami, Independent House leader, was a fair and reasonable amendment, but "not a member on this side of the house could support it without voting want of confidence in the government."

The suggestion in the amendment of building up reserves for the post-war period, he said, was an excellent one and the government was taking steps to create a reserve.

GOVERNMENT COST
Referring to the dropping of the vote of $3,100 for the education of soldiers' children from this year's budget, Mr. Low said it was felt a new situation would arise from the present war and that the old set would be inadequate to take care of it. Provisions would be made when the new situation arose, he said.

Referring to the statement by Mr. Duggan that the cost of government had risen under this government's administration, he said he must ask "What is the cost of government?" He declared that the cost of administration of the lands and mines department had risen 10 per cent, but that the revenue had risen 90 per cent. "This is more or less true of every department of government," he said.

Appointment of a central purchasing agency, he said, had been an additional administration cost, but had effected many economies.

MONETARY REFORM
Speaking of monetary reform he said he felt that Social Credit members believed in monetary reform and had a deep conviction of the righteousness of their beliefs.

"They may not know the practical and detailed ways of giving effect to their beliefs," he said, "but they do know that if a principle is right, it must be possible to find good and capable men to apply that principle in a practical and successful way."

He said he believed that the present system had many defects that could be changed for the better. "Let us not condemn each other for our beliefs," he said. "Let us reason together, join together, sacrifice together, and even dream together, to make of Alberta the very best place on earth to live."
